

History of Fall River Gun Club

A short history of how the gun range developed here in Fall River County

For a number of years, a small group of men worked to bring a shooting range to Fall River County, but they needed to begin a club with real membership first. Thus, the Fall River Gun Club was born. Through the persistence and determination of those men and their successors, and their membership, the SD Game, Fish and Parks offered a 160-acre parcel of land to be used as a gun range for the regions shooters. It needed however, a group of caretakers and operators, enter the Fall River Gun Club and its members. After many months of negotiations and discussions, the concept broke into reality. A land swap transpired, the 160 for a similar sized parcel with a nearby landowner, Tom Conger, Tom's land parcel offered a natural shooting environment. From these beginning steps, slowly the gun range emerged and is currently under construction.

We are all very proud of the partnership between the Fall River Gun Club and the South Dakota Game, Fish and Parks folks. We have worked hard for the enjoyment of all the people in the region. A lasting legacy for our children and young people to enjoy long after we are gone.

We invite all of you to come shoot; bring your families and friends, make new friendships, and enjoy new ideas and the sport of shooting together.
